MAKE INFERENCES

As you read, you put together clues from the story and your own knowledge to make inferences, or guesses, about how the characters feel and what might happen.

Directions: As you read “All Summer in a Day,” use the chart to record the inferences you make about the characters’ feelings and actions. One example has been done for you.

Clues from the Story	+	My Knowledge	=	Inference
Margot is not part of the group.	+	Not being part of a group can make you feel sad.	=	Margot feels sad.
